“ Many thanks to you and your team for a great session this morning. The content was very relevant and there is so much that resonates with us. We really appreciate the thought that you put into the preparation as well as how open you were with us on the challenges that you have faced. The collaboration space too is terrific and we can see why your clients find it so productive.

“ ...thank you for an excellent evening on Wednesday of last week. I thought the three speakers (including your good self of course!) were excellent. I was also very interested to hear the views of some of the other managing partners present. It is rare that as a managing partner I have the opportunity of meeting my opposite number from other firms or indeed being able to have conversations in a relatively informal atmosphere. That is a real value add from my perspective so many thanks for inviting me.
