

Unlock the potential in procurement

KPMG Powered Enterprise | Procurement enabled by Ivalua

2021

Integrated procurement practices can generate huge value. But achieving it can mean replacing legacy systems and broken processes. For many organisations this can seem a daunting challenge. KPMG Powered Procurement can unlock the transformation of your procurement function. Reaching beyond cost efficiencies, it creates a more agile operation, using cloud technology, mobile functionality and automation.

Choose to extend the role of procurement

Faced with empowered customers, emerging technologies, severe periodic disruption and a battle for skills, CPOs face important questions:

- Can I be a better partner to my business?
- How can we make self-service the norm for users and suppliers?
- How can procurement leverage big data to be intuitive and insightful?
- How can procurement use external insights, tools and technologies to drive better outcomes?
- What is the best way to make change happen smoothly?

KPMG believes that successful procurement functions of the future will combine:

Customer-centric procurement

Digital procurement platform

Agile operating model

Supplier-centric procurement
