KPMG | Odoo ERP Services

Embrace your business transformation

Undertaking a business transformation and deploying a new ERP solution like Odoo can be challenging, with far-reaching implications. With our comprehensive approach, we challenge the status quo and inspire innovation, all while placing your needs and goals at the forefront so you can confidently embrace a secure and sustainable Odoo-based business transformation.

Our approach is built around four key components, which bring together different dimensions depending on the situation and needs of our clients, to enable a successful deployment of Odoo.

1. We challenge & inspire

2. We design & validate

3. We implement & activate

4. We support & engage

1. We challenge and inspire

Setting the right foundations to ensure that our clients' path forward is well-informed, risk-managed, and aligned with their goals and aspirations is crucial in every business transformation project.

2. We design and validate

Knowing what will be done, what the client will get, what the budget will be, and the timeline are important elements to position the project delivery in the company strategy.

Thanks to a tailored-made Odoo discovery path that gives our clients the necessary elements to comprehend how Odoo can meet their specific needs or how it will be integrated in the IT landscape, our clients can secure their Odoo-based business transformation project strategy.

3. We implement and activate

The moment when the Odoo implementation starts is when the pressure on the organization is the greatest. People will have to invest time in learning the new tool, adapting their way of working, dealing with unexpected events, etc.

To make this process as smooth as possible, we understand that limiting the Odoo implementation to an IT transition is a big risk of seeing the complete business transformation project fail.

By addressing this major organizational change through a comprehensive set of elements to support all aspects of the organization impacted by this project with a tailor-made approach, we can not only secure the deployment of the Odoo solution but also accelerate it, limiting the duration of this period of high pressure on the organization.
