About the Summit

Taking place in the Kingdom of Bahrain in 2024, the MESAC Family Business Summit is themed Sustaining the legacy.

Keynote speakers at the Summit will take a deeper dive into generational transition in family business with emphasis on how prominent family businesses are striving to sustain the family legacy, drive growth and leverage the skills of young leaders within the family.

The topics to be discussed include:

- Sustaining and renewing the family business legacy
- Reinventing the family business
- Role of women in continuing the legacy of family businesses
- Diversification along with integration of core values of family businesses
- Startup mindset and digital innovation in family business

The keynote session and interactive workshop at the Summit will be moderated by Andrea Calabrò. The agenda will also include presentations by senior leaders from within the KPMG Private Enterprise network including Tom McGinness, former Global Chair of Family Business, and panel discussions with prominent family business leaders.

This regional event will be particularly beneficial for owners and senior leaders of family businesses and younger generation family members taking up leadership roles.

About the keynote speaker

Andrea Calabrò is a Full Professor of Family Business & Entrepreneurship and Co-Director of the IPAG Entrepreneurship & Family Business Center and Professor of Family Business & Entrepreneurship at IPAG Business School, France. He is the Global Academic Director of the STEP (Successful Transgenerational Entrepreneurship Practices) Project Global Consortium.

Andrea Calabrò holds a Ph.D. in Management and Governance from the University of Rome Tor Vergata. He co-founded the Family Business Research Strategic Interest Group (FBR SIG) at the European Academy of Management (EURAM) and is co-founder and organizer of the International Family Business Research Forum (IFBRF).

He has published journal articles on family firms, internationalization, and corporate governance in leading international peer-reviewed journals. He serves as advisor to family businesses and coaches next generation members.

Global leader for family business

Tom McGinness is the Global Leader of ESG for KPMG Private Enterprise. He was formerly the Global Chair of Family Business at KPMG, with a demonstrated history of working with large family businesses and private companies providing tax, accounting and advisory support. His areas of focus include tax, family governance and succession planning.

Tom has been a partner for 23 years specializing in personal and corporate tax for high-net-worth individuals (HNWI)s and international entrepreneurial groups. He has played a key role in building KPMG's global family business consulting practice and family office offering.
