Small Business Income Thresholds for 2025 and Beyond¹

Notes

- (1) The small business income thresholds shown in the table apply to active business income earned by a Canadian-controlled private corporation (CCPC) that is eligible for the small business income tax rate (see the tables “Federal and Provincial/Territorial Tax Rates for Income Earned by a CCPC”). All thresholds must be shared by associated corporations.

The federal small business income threshold is reduced on a straight-line basis when the associated corporate group’s taxable capital employed in Canada in the preceding taxation year is between $10 million and $50 million and is nil if the taxable capital is $50 million or more.

The federal small business income threshold is also reduced on a straight-line basis when the associated corporate group’s adjusted aggregate investment income in the preceding taxation year is between $50,000 and $150,000, and is nil if the adjusted aggregate investment income is $150,000 or more.

The reduction in a corporation’s federal small business income threshold will be the greater of the reductions under the taxable capital threshold and the investment income threshold. The rules for the provincial/territorial small business income thresholds are generally harmonized with the federal rules, except for Ontario and New Brunswick which have not adopted the reduction under the investment income threshold.
- (2) Quebec’s small business deduction is generally available to corporations only if their employees were paid for at least 5,500 hours in the taxation year (proportionally reduced for short taxation years) or if their employees and those of their associated corporations were paid for at least 5,500 hours in the previous taxation year, to a maximum of 40 hours a week per employee (excluding the hours paid to a subcontractor). The small business deduction is reduced linearly between 5,500 and 5,000 hours, and falls to nil at 5,000 hours.
- (3) Nova Scotia increased the province’s small business income threshold to $700,000 (from $500,000) effective April 1, 2025.
- (4) Prince Edward Island increased the province’s small business income threshold to $600,000 (from $500,000) effective July 1, 2025.
