Case study: Definition of a digital strategy

 Client:
 Swiss-based manufacturing company

 Swiss-based manufacturing company
 Industry:

Initial Situation

- Create an organization that can react fast to changing client needs and survive in the long-run
- Define what digital means and assess the impact of emerging technologies on internal processes and for the client interaction
- Create the foundation to move forward with potential digitalization initiatives across the organization
- Ensure the strategic alignment between IT and Digital and embed it into the group-wide corporate strategy
- Build Top Management awareness on the 'digital mind-set' and cultural change

Approach

- The KPMG 'Digital Readiness Assessment' builds the foundation to assess the current strengths and weaknesses with regard to 'Digital' along seven dimensions
- Assessments of the current state for specific topics (e.g. cloud or robotic process automation)
- Define the ambition and vision of the future 'digital' organization
- Concrete initiatives are defined to close the gap and increase the digital maturity of the company
- Implementation support of the digital transformation journey (in necessary leadership, organizational, cultural and competence change)

Results & Client Benefits

- Digital Strategy & Concept Paper
- Detailed Digital Roadmap with concrete initiatives
- Establishment of a digital organization with dedicated resources and clear governance processes
- Revised cloud policy for the group
- Robotic Process Automation PoC

The information contained herein is of a general nature and is not intended to address the circumstances of any particular individual or entity. If you would like to know more about how KPMG AG processes personal data, please read our Privacy Policy, which you can find on our homepage at www.kpmg.ch.

^{© 2023} KPMG AG, a Swiss corporation, is a subsidiary of KPMG Holding AG, which is a member firm of the KPMG global organization of independent member firms affiliated with KPMG International Limited, a private English company limited by guarantee. All rights reserved.