This extensive presence enables the firm to deploy experienced professionals efficiently, ensuring consistent delivery of high-quality services to clients.

The firm's journey began in 1945 with its establishment in the Hong Kong market. In 1983, KPMG opened its first Mainland office in Beijing, laying the foundation for a strong national network. In 1992, KPMG became the first international accounting network to obtain a joint venture licence in the Chinese Mainland. Later, on 1 August 2012, it became the first among the Big Four to convert from a joint venture to a special general partnership, solidifying its roots in the region. Over the past 80 years, KPMG has continually expanded its operations in China while gaining significant expertise across 21 industries, including finance, energy, manufacturing, state-owned enterprises, and capital markets.

KPMG China provides a range of services, including audit and assurance, tax, and advisory. These services cover all major phases of an organisation's lifecycle. The firm's deep understanding of industries is supported by dedicated teams focusing on specific sectors, which enables delivery of targeted insights and solutions tailored to client needs. Through combining local market knowledge with global expertise, KPMG delivers actionable recommendations in areas such as emerging trends, risk management, and capital strategies.

KPMG's values—Integrity, Excellence, Courage, Together, and For Better—drive every aspect of its operations. These principles align with its goal of promoting greater efficiency, inclusiveness, and equality. Moving forward, KPMG China remains committed to supporting sustainable economic and social development. By fostering a people-oriented culture, the firm seeks to contribute meaningfully to long-term prosperity while helping clients navigate emerging challenges and opportunities in an evolving business environment.

Our network

KPMG International is a global network of firms operating in 138 countries and territories with more than 276,000 partners and employees working in member firms around the world. Each KPMG firm is an independent legal entity. KPMG China firms do not have any global partnership, joint venture or entrustment with KPMG International, nor are they subsidiaries or branches of any overseas entity. We work together to provide clients with excellent audit, tax, and advisory services by upholding consistent values and service standards, combining global perspectives and local insights, and leveraging resources and professional teams across the KPMG global network.

KPMG China has established its Global China Practice (GCP) to support Chinese enterprises pursuing overseas expansion and foreign investors entering the Chinese market. With dedicated teams across over 70 key international locations—including Europe, America, Australia, Southeast Asia, Latin America, the Middle East, and along the Belt and Road—this network connects clients to local expertise while leveraging KPMG's global resources.

The GCP has played a pivotal role in numerous landmark outbound transactions, including mergers and acquisitions (M&A) and greenfield investments, by guiding enterprises through complex international operations and helping them integrate into local business environments. The practice also assists in bridging cultural and regulatory gaps, essential for success in foreign operations. Through its network, the GCP enables foreign companies to establish and grow operations in China by connecting them with potential Chinese partners and offering strategic advice. KPMG's commitment extends to helping businesses adjust strategies to capitalise on China's evolving role in global economic transformation. By leveraging local knowledge and cross-border expertise, KPMG ensures a holistic approach in supporting both outbound and inbound investments, enabling clients to build sustainable and resilient market positions.

Our history in China

KPMG China has a long history. The firm can trace its origins to 1945 when it entered the regional market in Hong Kong. In 1983, it established its first office in the Chinese Mainland in Beijing, which served as a springboard for building its presence and network across the country. With courage, decisiveness, and an unwavering commitment to clients, we have achieved one success after another.

/ Our impact

At KPMG China, we are committed to making ESG a watermark running through our organisation, from empowering our people to become agents of positive change to providing better solutions and services to our clients so that they can achieve their ESG goals.

In 2025, KPMG China issued its fifth ESG report: 'Our Impact Plan' FY24.

KPMG China
'Our Impact Plan' FY24

Governance

- Purposeful business
- Acting transparently with integrity and accountability
- Human rights

Guided by KPMG Values, we are committed to becoming the most trusted and trustworthy professional services firm. KPMG China has zero tolerance for illegal or unethical behaviour. Each year, all partners and staff are required to complete anti-corruption training. In addition, we strive to drive purposeful business by acting with a clear purpose at all times. We are also committed to leading the profession in audit quality, driving a responsible tax practice, and creating long-term value through our ESG services. Following KPMG's global ESG strategy, we support our clients on their ESG transformation journeys by providing leading-edge expertise and solutions to address key ESG issues they are facing.

People

- Inclusion, diversity and equity
- Health and well-being
- Continuous learning

We are committed to creating an inclusive, diverse, and equitable workplace that is built on trust and enables our people to flourish, regardless of individual differences. KPMG encourages colleagues to come as they are. Together, we respect one another and draw strengths from our differences. By honouring different perspectives, we can deliver stronger insights and better pursue innovation. Our flagship Next Generation Council programme and year-round awareness campaigns help cultivate an inclusive workplace for all. Additionally, we take efforts to help safeguard our people's health and promote their well-being – both physically and mentally. We have also acquired the internationally recognised ISO 45001:2018 certification for our occupational health and safety management system. Talent is a core asset for KPMG, and we take efforts to help our people realise their full potential by offering a variety of learning opportunities and resources, including knowledge and skills development in areas such as digital and ESG, to empower them to lead the future.

Planet

- Decarbonisation
- Climate risk
- Nature and biodiversity

As part of KPMG's global journey to net zero, we have established a validated science-based target (SBT), aiming to reduce our emissions by 50% by 2030 across all scopes compared to our FY19 baseline. This goal guides KPMG China's decarbonisation efforts, which include improving energy efficiency, purchasing 100% renewable electricity, promoting green travel, reducing carbon emissions in our supply chain, promoting the circular economy, and protecting nature as core initiatives to reduce our environmental footprint. In line with our climate goals and commitment to reduce our environmental impact, we also implemented an internal carbon price in October 2022 to encourage our people to reduce unnecessary travel and opt for low-carbon transportation options.

Prosperity

- Contribute to the economic development of China
- Support the communities in which we operate

At KPMG China, we strive to create a resilient and sustainable business while also aligning with national policies in China to better support the country's social and economic development. We also strive to improve people's livelihood by creating jobs, fostering technological innovation, empowering grassroots social organisations and other initiatives. As for community investment, KPMG's '10by30' strategy aims to economically empower 10 million underprivileged young people around the world by 2030 through education, employment, and entrepreneurship. We focus on equipping disadvantaged youth with future-ready skills, school-to-work transition support, and removing development barriers, fostering resilience and competitiveness so they will be prepared for their future careers. We also leverage our professional expertise and core competencies to support rural revitalisation by building capacity for non-profit organisations (NPOs) and new rural collective economic organisations, and by promoting digital development in rural areas.
