

Regulatory Update

Various sanctions packages =
"No Russia?"

The latest sanctions packages in response to the Russian war of aggression against Ukraine are, in addition to a large number of bans related to individuals and goods as well as financial and sector-specific sanctions, increasingly being aimed at circumvention activities. Stay up to date with our regulatory updates.

The challenge

In the wake of Russia's war of aggression against Ukraine, the EU has continuously been issuing sanctions packages that restrict business relations with Russia. In addition to specific bans on exports to or imports from Russia, the contents of these sanctions packages also relate to certain sensitive goods being supplied to other countries if there is a risk of them being diverted to Russia. The requirements for internal company compliance and due diligence with regard to business partners and possible attempts at circumvention are particularly challenging for companies. It is also likely that the EU will pass further sanctions packages in the future. This is why it is important that companies stay up to date with the latest news and official announcements to ensure that they are aware of the impact of legal changes and can react in good time. We can support you in this regard with our regulatory updates.
