Peru has modified the value of the "UIT"<sup>1</sup> tax unit. The "UIT" tax unit is used as a reference amount in Peruvian tax law when determining taxable income, deductions, fines, etc.

Why This Matters

The UIT is a tax adjustment index whose value is modified annually. As noted, it is used to determine tax rates, deductions, credits, and fines.

This adjustment should be noted by payroll administrators with respect to withholdings. And for purposes of budgeting for international assignments, the adjustment should be factored into calculations.

On December 11, 2013, Peru's Supreme Decree N° 304–2013–EF was published in the Official Gazette "El Peruano" setting the value of the UIT for the 2014 fiscal year at PEN 3,800 (previously PEN 3,700).

Footnote:

1 "UIT" stands for Unidad Impositiva Tributaria.
