KPMG executive director Nik Anira Nik Mohd Zain will be running in the CEO Race for the first time — and she is really looking forward to it.

“I like the concept of racing in office attire. We don’t just work hard, we play hard too,” she says. “I believe in these words: Nothing can substitute for experience.”

Nik Anira is proud to be representing her firm, which she says is a motivating factor for her.

The CEO Race, she adds, can make top management of corporate firms eat humble pie. “They need to be brought down to earth at times.”

Nik Anira will be running alongside KPMG partner Mohd Khaidzir Shahari in the CEO Race.

The accounting firm is also sending a team for the mixed category and the members are excited to be doing their bit for charity while having fun.
