

Consulting Graduate Program

Work in the up-and-coming world of management consulting.

In Consulting, we help our clients to improve their results over the long term. You will learn about a number of key subject areas over a 12-month period and will be able to pick one to specialize in once you have completed the program.

Your duties in Consulting

In Consulting, we help our clients to boost their long-term efficiency. This includes improving processes, minimizing risks and cutting costs. Our economic crime experts in Forensic advise clients on issues such as prevention and help to investigate criminal activity. In IT Advisory, meanwhile, we support our clients' efforts to optimize their use of information technologies. This includes developing an IT strategy and guaranteeing information security, and information management. The Supply Chain Management & Procurement team is responsible for answering questions on the value chain, from purchasing and production through to logistics. In Financial Management, we help CFOs bring their finance departments right up to date and identify the key ratios required for reliable business management. In Healthcare, we advise hospitals and other healthcare providers on transparent cost structures, process efficiency and profitability.

Your benefits

- You will receive a permanent employment contract from day one
- You will have a high degree of personal responsibility right from your very first task
- You will be given active support for your continuing professional development and building up your network
- You will be able to talk directly to Senior Partners and discuss the strategic issues of the day
- You will be able to go on stimulating training courses
- You will work in interdisciplinary teams and gain an insight into various different areas of KPMG's work

Requirements

- Excellent grade in a Master's degree in business economics with a relevant specialization, in business informatics or in industrial engineering
- Internships or initial professional experience in advisory, ideally in a client-facing role
- Excellent English, ideally honed during time spent abroad, and fluent German
- A high level of flexibility, a sense of personal responsibility, strong communication skills and curiosity
- A resilient team player with outstanding analytical skills
