We develop our own tools, technologies and processes to help our clients optimize their tax situation within Swiss and international regulatory frameworks. Our global expertise ensures that tax issues are considered from all manner of different angles.

Corporate Tax

In Corporate Tax, we advise Swiss and international clients from all sectors on complex tax matters from both a legal and a company management perspective. For instance, we provide support with M&A projects, foreign companies setting up operations in Switzerland, and the development of financing, licensing and holding vehicles. We also answer specific tax questions on issues, such as salary and expense payments and succession arrangements, as well as providing tax management services including tax reporting, tax risk management and tax planning for corporate groups.

Financial Services Tax

Our Financial Services Tax department advises international banks and financial companies on complex tax issues and assists with their structuring, restructuring, acquisition and financing projects. For instance, we assist Swiss banks with preparing Swiss and foreign tax statements and answer questions on stamp duty law and withholding tax. We also analyze financial products and help banks to compile term sheets.

Global Mobility Services (GMS)

In GMS, we assist managers at global companies with the practical aspects of their deployments abroad in conjunction with matters of tax and social security law as well as ensuring our clients remain tax-compliant. This involves correctly handling employer obligations in the case of cross-border employment relationships, preparing tax returns for employees in line with an employer's specific secondment policy, and designing and marketing KPMG's own software solutions for processing international secondments.

Indirect Tax

VAT

The VAT team advises our clients on all issues connected with Swiss and international value-added tax (VAT). Our advisory offering includes an analysis of the current solution, devising potential solutions and agreeing measures on, for instance, improving internal workflows, minimizing risk or making financial savings. We also brief our clients on changes to the law and standard practice and help them to implement VAT reforms and comply with regulations.

Customs & Trade

Our work in the legal fields of customs/excise duties and export control consists of health checks, process analyses and optimization measures, workshops, projects and case-specific advice. Numerous interconnected factors need to be taken into account in the international world of supply chain management to enable goods or technology to be sent worldwide, be this physically, by data transfer, or even using cloud computing. Our work is global, multidisciplinary and, given its political aspects, a reliable source of surprises.

International Private Client Services (IPC)

The IPC team advises high-net-worth Swiss and foreign private clients on tax and legal issues. Our services include advice on the worldwide relocation of individuals, families and the structures they have set up. We also provide support with structuring income and assets for real estate, aircraft, yachts, fine art and much more as well as advising on tax-efficient investment planning. Our activities also cover prenuptial agreements, estate planning, and the preparation and execution of wills.

Global Transfer Pricing Services

In Global Transfer Pricing, we advise multinationals from all sectors on their intragroup transactions. We help our clients to design and manage tax-efficient structures that dovetail with their value chain. In particular, our services include advice on devising, documenting and implementing transfer pricing strategies. The support we give our clients in this regard also extends to compliance requirements under international tax law.
