The challenge

In today's increasingly complex marketplace, finance transformation has a prominent place on the CFO agenda for organisations in the Business Services sector which have often been built up through acquisition – and a key enabler is cloud. But the adoption of any new technology typically incurs added expenses and a long implementation time for integration and data conversion efforts. Plus, integrating new technologies with current platforms may prove to be challenging even for the most advanced finance organisations.

KPMG can help

KPMG Powered Finance is our prebuilt solution that leverages KPMG subject-matter knowledge combined with Oracle Cloud applications to accelerate finance transformation and the path to ROI. KPMG Powered Finance simplifies and speeds up the adoption of Oracle's cloud toolset for the finance function.

Additionally, KPMG Powered Finance follows a holistic approach and focuses on aspects that are unique to your organisation to better integrate with current platforms and leverage new technology solutions.

KPMG Powered Finance works to transform the finance function through:

- A target operating model built on leading practice approaches to service delivery model, people and organisation, functional process, governance and controls, supporting technology, and data and reporting.

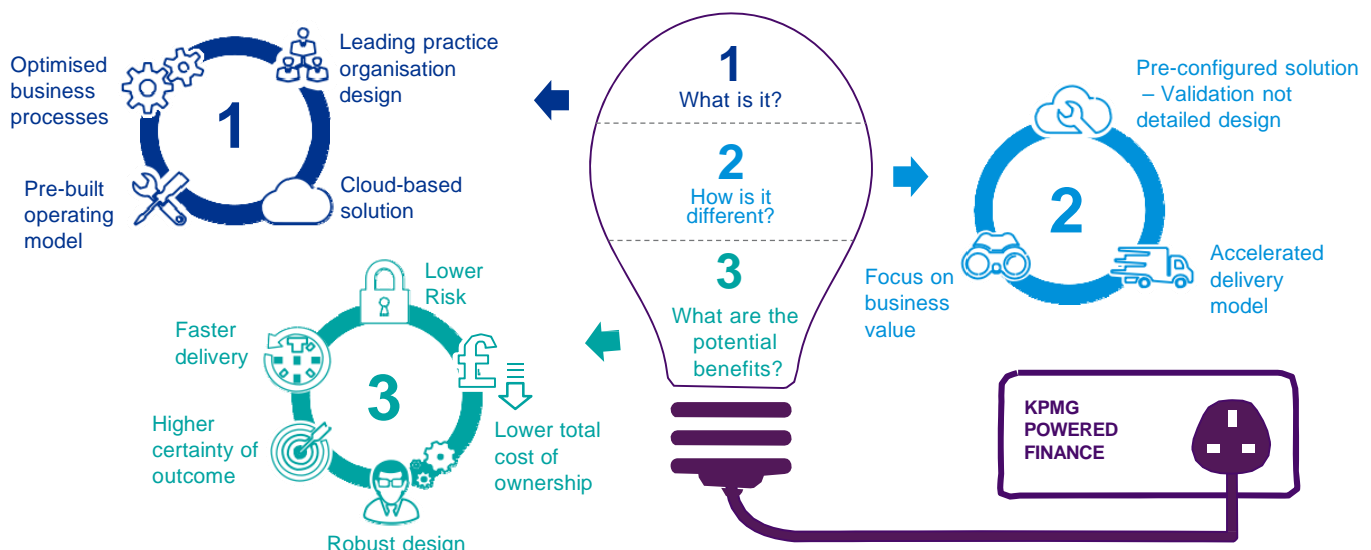

- Direct access to KPMG's finance, tax, risk, and controls knowledge.
- An integrated design using the latest cloud-based technology from Oracle®.

Potential benefits

KPMG Powered Finance can help eliminate the complexity of aligning your finance function with Oracle Cloud applications – So you can focus on more strategic initiatives that add value to the business. Our clients are able to realise the following benefits:

- Lower risk: The core system has been successfully tested and deployed, unlike implementations started from scratch.
- Lower cost: You benefit from cost savings, both at implementation and in the longer term.
- Aligns with business functions: Our predesigned solution contains efficient, enhanced process models and organisation designs, providing a tested methodology built for efficiency.
- Higher certainty of outcome: From day one, you know what the prebuilt system will entail and how it will integrate with your requirements.
- Accelerated implementation: Our predesigned solutions combined with our cloud-specific delivery model provide you a faster path toward value and ROI.
