KPMG in Romania

The last months have proved to be challenging ones, involving reorganizing reality as we know it, in terms of businesses coping with and adjusting to the new way of working in the context of the Covid-19 pandemic.

On top of this, the beginning of next year will bring other challenges in terms of customs operations and re-thinking supply chains, as the transition period of Brexit will officially end.

Now is the time to determine not just our strengths in facing these changing times, but also to analyze our supply chain vulnerabilities, such as the possible need for resources for additional customs formalities, delays in customs clearance and, of course, additional taxes for imports of goods, when doing business with the UK.

By thinking beyond the present and beyond borders to deliver long-lasting value, and using our understanding of tax governance, specialist skills and deep industry knowledge, we help you to stay competitive and compliant.

One particular area in which we believe KPMG in Romania can make the difference, and provide a short term response to the expected changes in 2021, is in assisting companies with tariff classification services and determining the relevant costs in terms of customs duties for their merchandise.

How can the KPMG team assist you?

The customs and international trade services that KPMG in Romania provides include:

Analyzing bulk sets of products and determining their tariff classification

Assessing the tariff classification of the goods on HS, CN, or Taric level

Determining the applicable customs duties, both EU customs tariff and UKGT rate, if required

Checking for specific import document requirements, such as mandatory certificates /licenses

Guidance on determining tariff classification of goods, when dealt with by the client

As KPMG's number one priority is to deliver a portfolio of services adapted to the changing needs of companies in the context of a global market, tariff classification is only one small part of the services we provide.

Should you need details on any other aspects related to customs and international trade or other relevant indirect taxation matters, please contact us.
