Monthly Update

March 2017

The continuing global political uncertainty will affect the course of future regulatory developments, as is already evident from the continuing delay in finalising the Basel IV reforms where both the January and March deadlines have passed without the Basel Committee reaching agreement. But on a ‘business as usual’ level, we keep this month’s focus on evolving existing EU regulation, where nearer term milestones need to be met.

Key developments...

Basel 3 monitoring exercises

The Basel Committee and the EBA have published their latest monitoring of how banks are performing against the fully phased-in Basel 3 (or CRR/CRD4 in Europe) capital, leverage and liquidity standards, using data at end-June 2016. More...

EBA review of banks’ recovery plans

The European Banking Authority (EBA) has published the results of a review of the recovery plans of 23 European banking groups, with the parent banks located in 12 EU countries. More...

Impact of revised market risk framework

The Basel Committee agreed a revised market risk framework in January 2016. This is due to be implemented from January 2019 (possibly later in the EU). The latest Basel Committee monitoring report on meeting Basel 3 requirements includes an analysis of the potential impact on banks of this framework. More...

KPMG’s European Central Bank (ECB) Office update

EBA publishes final draft Regulatory Technical Standards (RTS) on strong customer authentication and common and secure communication.
