Welcome to our new ways of working

Hello Alumni!

I am writing to you at a very exciting time, as KPMG in Singapore has recently moved to our new office at Asia Square Tower 2. It was a momentous transition for all of us, particularly those around my vintage, having been in the same premises for the last four decades!

Our move to the new office is so much more than a lift and shift. It is an opportunity for us to re-imagine the future and explore how we can capitalise on market opportunities, equip ourselves with the knowledge and technologies to adapt to future ways of doing business and tackle new and complex challenges.

Till our next letter, stay safe and well!
