IRS practice units: Tax items of U.S. persons residing abroad

The IRS Large Business and International (LB&I) division publicly released two “practice units” as guidance concerning certain tax issues of U.S. persons residing abroad.

The practice units—part of a series of IRS examiner “job aides” and training materials intended to describe for IRS agents leading practices about tax concepts in general and specific types of transactions—concern the following topics:

- Employee share of employment taxes, U.S. citizens and resident aliens working abroad
- U.S. persons residing abroad, claiming additional child tax credit

These two practice units are posted on the IRS website (with a December 7, 2017 posting date).
