

TaxNewsFlash

United States

No. 2018-240
June 25, 2018

KPMG reports: Rhode Island (software); Utah (apportionment); Virginia (shopping fees)

KPMG's This Week in State Tax—produced weekly by KPMG's State and Local Tax practice—focuses on recent state and local tax developments.

- Rhode Island: The budget bill—that expands the definition of “retail sale” (subject to sales and use tax) to include vendor-hosted pre-written computer software—was signed into law.
- Utah: A taxpayer established that it was a “sales factor-weighted taxpayer”—a classification that allows the taxpayer to use a single sales factor formula to apportion its business income. An administrative law judge found the taxpayer was a multi-level marketer, rather than a manufacturer.
- Virginia: The Department of Taxation issued a policy document finding that fees or charges associated with a grocery store chain’s proposed personal shopping services would be subject to sales tax.

Read more at KPMG's This Week in State Tax

The information contained in TaxNewsFlash is not intended to be "written advice concerning one or more Federal tax matters" subject to the requirements of section 10.37(a)(2) of Treasury Department Circular 230, as the content of this document is issued for general informational purposes only, is intended to enhance the reader's knowledge on the matters addressed therein, and is not intended to be applied to any specific reader's particular set of facts. Although we endeavor to provide accurate and timely information, there can be no guarantee that such information is accurate as of the date it is received or that it will continue to be accurate in the future. Applicability of the information to specific situations should be determined through consultation with your tax adviser.

KPMG International is a Swiss cooperative that serves as a coordinating entity for a network of independent member firms. KPMG International provides no audit or other client services. Such services are provided solely by member firms in their respective geographic areas. KPMG International and its member firms are legally distinct and separate entities. They are not and nothing contained herein shall be construed to place these entities in the relationship of parents, subsidiaries, agents, partners, or joint venturers. No member firm has any authority (actual, apparent, implied or otherwise) to obligate or bind KPMG International or any member firm in any manner whatsoever.

Direct comments, including requests for subscriptions, to Washington National Tax. For more information, contact KPMG's Federal Tax Legislative and Regulatory Services Group at + 1 202.533.4366, 1801 K Street NW, Washington, DC 20006-1301.

To unsubscribe from TaxNewsFlash-United States, reply to Washington National Tax.

Privacy | Legal