Legal entity capital requirements  Limited liability company (s.r.o.): at least EUR 5,000;

Residence and tax system
A company is resident if it has been incorporated in Slovakia or if its place of effective management is in Slovakia.

Resident companies are taxed on their worldwide income. Non-resident companies are taxed on their Slovak source income only.

Compliance requirements for CIT purposes
The corporate income tax return must be filed within three months from the end of the respective taxable period (usually the calendar year, but can be changed to a different financial year). However, based on the written notification submitted to the relevant tax authorities by the date prescribed for the filing of the tax return, the deadline for filing can be extended:

A) up to three calendar months; or

B) up to six calendar months (if the taxpayer has also earned taxable income originating abroad).

Tax rate
The standard corporate income tax rate is 21 percent.

Withholding tax rates
On dividends paid to non-resident companies
No withholding tax on dividends paid to non-resident companies (except for distributions of profits generated before 2004).

35 percent on dividends paid to a taxpayer in a non-treaty country, distributed out of profits derived in taxable periods starting on and after January 1, 2017. Distributions to non-white list countries from profits realized in taxable periods starting on and before December 31, 2016 (subject to exception mentioned above) continue to be exempt from WHT.

No withholding tax applies to dividends paid to EU parents, regardless of the year in which the profit was earned (due to the domestic law implementing the EU Parent-Subsidiary Directive), if the following conditions are fulfilled:

■ Participation requirement: 25 percent of the share capital in the case of pre-2004 profits (the 25 percent shareholding requirement was not reduced to 10 percent,

■ No minimum holding period.

On interest paid to non-resident companies
Generally 19 percent, but exemption for interest paid to EU-associated companies (due to the domestic law implementing the EU Interest and Royalties Directive):

■ Associated companies: direct holding of 25 percent of the share capital;

■ Minimum holding period: 24 consecutive months before the payment date.

The rate may also be reduced under DTTs.
35 percent on interest paid to taxpayer in non-tax treaty state.
On patent royalties and certain copyright royalties paid to non-resident companies

Generally 19 percent, but exception for royalties paid to EU-associated companies (due to the domestic law implementing the EU Interest and Royalties Directive):

- Minimum holding period: 24 consecutive months before the payment date.

The rate may also be reduced under DTTs.

Dividend received from resident/non-resident subsidiaries

Exemption, except for distributions of profits generated before 2004.

For dividends distributed by an EU resident subsidiary whose share capital is directly held as to 25 percent, the exemption applies regardless of the year in which the profit was earned (due to the domestic law implementing the EU Parent-Subsidiary Directive).

In accordance with the amendment of the EU Parent-Subsidiary Directive, in order to avoid tax evasion related to hybrid instruments, the profit shares (e.g. dividends) are not subject to tax only to the extent that they are not a tax expense of the distributor of the profit share.

Dividends received from non-treaty states are subject to tax at the rate of 35 percent if distributed out of profits for taxable periods starting on and after January 1, 2017.

Capital gains obtained from resident/non-resident subsidiaries

In principle, taxable as ordinary income: taxation of capital gains from Slovak sources, on the sale of moveable assets of a PE, shares and securities in a Slovak entity if sold by a non-resident to a Slovak entity or if the non-resident company owns real estate in Slovakia with an accounting value totaling more than 50 percent of the company's equity (may be reduced/exempted by application of DTT).
