Uruguay - Travel Restrictions Imposed Due to Coronavirus (COVID-19) Pandemic

The President of Uruguay has announced the total closing of the border with Argentina as from 17 March 2020, except for Uruguayan citizens or residents who want to come back to Uruguay.¹

Beginning 20 March, Uruguay will suspend all incoming flights from Europe. Until then, only Uruguayan citizens or residents will be allowed into the country if they fly from European countries.

On 13 March, the Uruguayan government had announced a sanitary emergency due to the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic. With the appearance of the first COVID-19 cases in Uruguay, the government adopted new measures to protect the Uruguayan population and prevent the spread of the virus.

WHY THIS MATTERS

The new travel restrictions have a considerable impact on the global mobility of employees between Uruguay and European countries, as cross-border transfers of foreign nonresident employees and their families will be banned as from 20 March.

The closing of Uruguay's borders beginning 17 March will impact companies with expatriate populations in terms of future assignments inbound to or outbound from Uruguay. Employees and their families who may have received offers for an international assignment to Uruguay should postpone the commencement of the assignment. This could cause some anxiety, stress, and inconvenience, especially where plans for relocation are already underway.

Companies with global presence and individuals operating across borders need to be increasingly aware of the relevant risks associated with travel, large-crowd events and conferences, and new work arrangements consequent to the COVID-19 outbreak.

Thought Leadership from KPMG: "Coronavirus: Protect Your Staff and Your Business"

Due to the rapid development of the novel coronavirus situation, many companies have initiated business continuity planning to protect their staff and mitigate the impact on their business operations. In light of the concerns around international assignees – including business travelers – in affected areas, the KPMG People Services team in the People's Republic of China has developed a booklet ("Coronavirus: Protect Your Staff and Your Business" (February 2020)) highlighting the key considerations for these issues from high level tax, legal, and immigration perspectives.
