Brazil – COVID-19: While Travel Restrictions Get Extended, Some Flexibility

On July 29, the Brazilian authorities published a note in the country's Official Gazette extending the restriction on foreign nationals entering Brazil for 30 more days.¹ The extended restriction will last until August 29.

However, there is some flexibility as far as the rules go, and some exemptions are allowed, for example, the entry of foreign nationals who come for tourism purposes and short stays (90 days maximum). The traveler must present proof of medical insurance that covers the intended period of stay in Brazil.

Moreover, foreign nationals with a granted Brazilian entry visa (i.e., work visa, student visa, etc.) can now enter Brazilian territory with no further restrictions since they fly into and arrive at determined locations (see More Details section below).

By experience, we have noticed that the Federal Police is accepting some urgent requests for visa registrations² and they are including more time slots on their website for new applications, as part of a plan to gradually reassume their usual timeframes and activities.

WHY THIS MATTERS

Efforts to introduce greater flexibility regarding travel and visa/registration services demonstrate initial steps toward a re-opening of Brazil's borders. Such evidence of flexibility will help benefit those companies that intend to get their international assignments or business travelers who may need to enter in Brazil back on track.

More Details

Entering through Specific Airports

No international flights are permitted into airports located in the following Brazilian states: Mato Grosso do Sul, Paraíba, Rondônia, Rio Grande do Sul, and Tocantins during this restriction.

Federal Police

Depending on the progression of the coronavirus in some cities in Brazil and the sanitary/health protocols of each jurisdiction, some specific Federal Police units might remain closed or attend only to urgent cases.

KPMG NOTE

Travelers seeking to enter Brazil should regularly check the latest information made available by the nearest Brazilian Embassy or Consulate about entry and exit from the country and the restoration of passport and visa services.

The KPMG International member firm in Brazil continues to monitor the situation around travel and border restrictions and will endeavor to keep readers of GMS Flash Alert apprised of any new developments.
