Belgium - List of High-Risk Countries Gets Updated Again

On 24 July 2021, another update was published concerning the countries for which Belgium has instituted a travel ban. With this last update, the travel ban covers individuals travelling from 22 countries (including Brazil, India, and South Africa) into Belgium. (For prior coverage, see the following issues of GMS Flash Alert: 2021-204 (22 July 2021) and 2021-192 (1 July 2021).)

This GMS Flash Alert highlights the update of the list of countries from which entry into Belgium is, in principle, denied.

WHY THIS MATTERS

The various COVID-19 containment measures have had a profound impact on both professional and personal travel. Companies worldwide have had to cancel or postpone business trips and assignments. However, many companies are slowly starting to resume their international travel plans and prepare for upcoming business travel and assignments. Notwithstanding, the increased travel restrictions triggered by the rise of new COVID-19 variants could again impact travel and relocations to Belgium.

Employers and their mobile employees may need to – at least for the time being – reconsider their plans. To the extent possible, it may be prudent for some individuals to delay any plans to depart Belgium (if their plan is to return to the country) to prevent complications and the possibility of being refused re-entry at the border, as the situation is fluid.

Context

Belgium decided to identify a list of 27 "high-risk countries" and introduce measures intended to contain the further spread of the new variants in Belgium. On 24 July 2021, an update to the list of countries was published on the website of the federal government.¹

Consequences

The institution of this travel ban means that in many cases third-country nationals travelling from one of the now 22 countries will not be able to travel to Belgium until further notice (even if they received their work permit/single permit approval before 26 June 2021). The only exceptions to this travel ban concern:

- diplomatic missions;
- Belgian residents/nationals (travelling back from one of those countries);
- professional travel undertaken by transport personnel and seafarers.

KPMG NOTE

Employers will need to stay abreast of the changes to the list of high-risk countries since their plans for economic migration or business travel arrangements to/from Belgium could be impacted.

Which Countries?

The following countries are considered as high-risk countries and individuals originating from those countries are not allowed to enter Belgium, until further notice:

- Argentina
- Bolivia
- Botswana
- Brazil (already denied entry since 28 April 2021)
- Chile
- Colombia
- Costa Rica (as from 24 July)
- eSwatini (Swaziland)
- Lesotho
- Malawi
- Mexico
- Mozambique
- Namibia
- Paraguay
- Peru
- Philippines (as from 24 July)
- South Africa (already denied entry since 28 April 2021)
- Suriname
