Globally, COVID-19 has accelerated the digital disruption of retail and consumer brands at an unprecedented pace. The paradigm shift of power to the consumer has created challenges and opportunities for brands who are lean, agile and have the right strategic focus.

For retailers and consumer brands, changing consumer behavior, increased costs and margin pressure is not new. However, COVID-19 accelerated consumer trends and created permanent shifts in behavior almost overnight catching many retailers unprepared and challenging traditional business models. Well-positioned retailers capitalized on the opportunity and produced record results.

For many retailers and consumer brands, cost cutting to drive bottom line outcomes is no longer enough. Best practice focus is on transformational change, corporate streamlining and business model optimization leveraging digital technology and data to respond to issues such as:

- the quantum shift to online accelerated by COVID-19, requiring a lean and agile operating model
- global competitors with disruptive business models (e.g. platforms and direct to consumer via social)
- consumer demand for speed and efficiency, accelerated by new technologies
- shifting demographics/expectations as purpose and ESG become the new ticket to play
- ‘experiential retail’ including the optimization/repurposing of store portfolios
- economic volatility impacted by government stimulus, border restrictions, the shift to work from home and local constraints on social interactions.

<td>Growth of online marketplaces, platforms and e-retailers impacting store performance in certain sub-sectors.</td>
<td>Brand purpose and ESG have become the new ticket to play and consumers are increasingly re-evaluating the social value of ownership of physical things.</td>
<td>The investment required to build a competitive online offering and the ‘hidden costs’ associated with transforming operating systems/processes (including lean and agile supply chains) is putting a strain on cash flow.</td>
<td>With the shift to digital retail there is strategic focus on the ‘shopper experience,’ space optimization and repurposing of the store portfolio which requires significant capital investment.</td>
