

Tax Transformation

Building a Tax Function fit for the future

KPMG's Tax Transformation services help companies to proactively design and build how they deliver tax requirements in a world where what they need to deliver is ever changing. We are helping companies to design leading tax functions with a focus on people, process, technology, and governance, while also seeking to address tax risk, reputation, and compliance.

Why transform?

The world is evolving and digitizing at pace and tax functions need to transform to keep up. The environment tax leaders operate in has dramatically changed. Economic uncertainty is pressuring companies to cut costs and drive efficiencies; and tax authorities continue to innovate how they administer and collect tax using technology and data.

Frequently seen triggers for Tax Transformation can include:

- End-to-end operations or finance transformation
- New legislative and/or regulatory requirements such as real-time reporting or e-invoicing
- ERP system changes
- Internal and/or external audit findings
- Changes in key tax or finance personnel
- Budget pressures
- Mergers and acquisitions activity

Potential benefits of transforming

Optimize costs

Drive efficiencies

Streamline processes

Improve financial reporting accuracy

Predict and identify problems

Gain a holistic view of tax activities

Keep pace with regulatory change

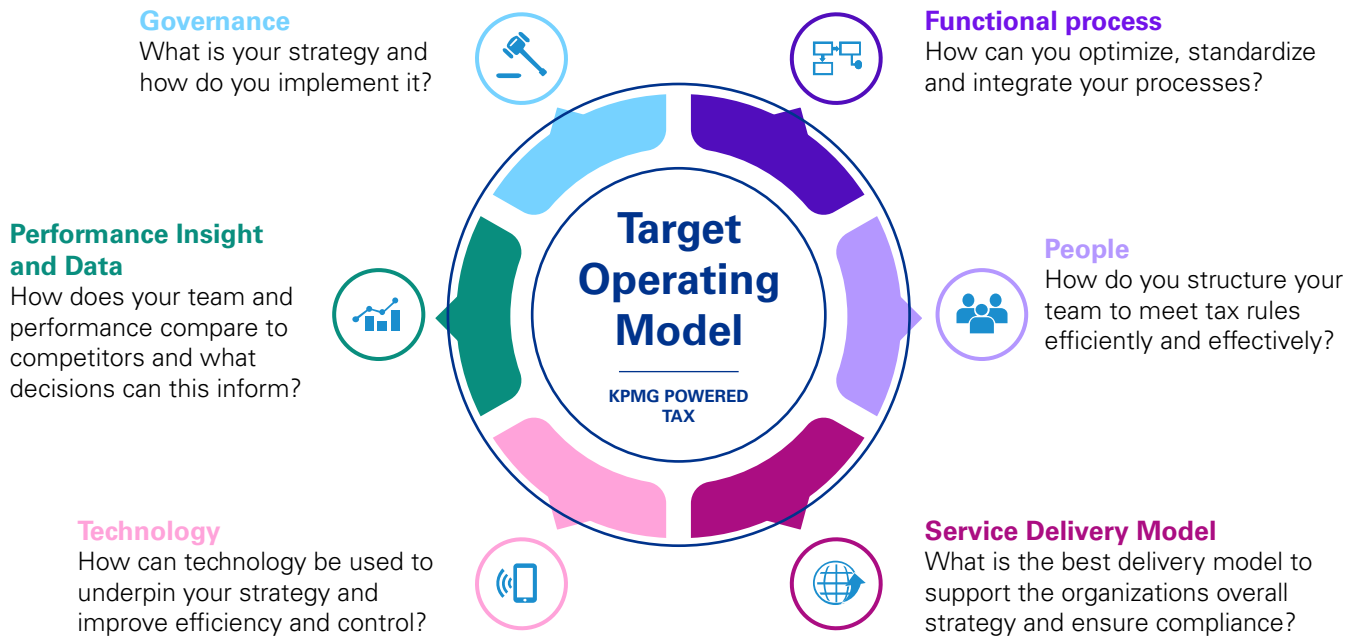

Adapt to changing business needs

Enhance decision making
